SUBHANYA GHANSHIRKARI
New Delhi, 16 July

Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on Tuesday met Reliance Jio Chairman Akash Ambani, Bharti Enterprises' Founder and Chairman Sunil Mittal, and Vodafone Idea (VI) CEO Akshaya Moondra to discuss ways to create an action plan for the telecom sector. The minister also met internet service providers and academicians to continue discussions on sectoral issues.

“WE HAVE IDENTIFIED A RATHER DEEP AGENDA FOR ALL THREE COMMITTEES. NOW, THE MEMBERS OF THESE COMMITTEES AND WE WILL BE WORKING TOGETHER”

JYOTIRADITYA SCINDIA, TELECOM MINISTER

The meetings were part of the Union government's consultations with the six new advisory committees formed by the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) to draw up a new agenda focused on growth and development.

On Monday, Scindia had met three of the six advisory panels — satellite communications, electronics ecosystem, and original equipment manufacturers (OEMs). The meetings attempted to make a deep dive into issues related to satcom, production linked incentive (PLI) schemes and telecom equipment.

“We have identified a rather deep agenda for all three committees. Now, the members of these committees and we will be working together. There are varied schedules for the first presentation of these committees over the next couple of weeks,” Scindia said.

The DoT will be taking each individual issue at a time, delving into details, and devising an action plan with clear timelines and actionable items, so that the sector can be taken forward, he stressed. “The telecom service providers' special advisory committee discussed strategies to enhance service delivery and address challenges faced by telecom operators,” the DoT said in a release. Among key issues discussed, futuristic & innovative areas of growth found a special focus.

Airtel CEO Gopal Vittal and SP Kochhar, director general of the Cellular Operators' Association of India, were also present at the meet with telco chiefs. Sources said telcos shared with the minister the progress of the ongoing national rollout, which has covered all districts in the country.

Tesla veteran's startup Tekion secures $200 mn funding

Tekion, an automotive software platform founded by former Tesla executive Jay Vijayan, has secured $200 million in growth equity capital from Dragoner Investment Group, it said on Tuesday.

This financing round set Tekion's valuation at more than $4 billion from the previous $3.5 billion. Tekion will use the capital to expand its product offering for dealer partners and original equipment manufacturers (OEMs), speed up implementation timelines, and strengthen customer support.

“Tekion has charted an extraordinary growth path, revolutionising the automotive retail industry through our comprehensive and fully integrated platform,” said Jay Vijayan, founder and chief executive officer of Tekion. “Dragoner's team has followed our progress closely for multiple years, believes in our long-term vision, and carries an impressive track record investing in best-in-class vertical SaaS (software-as-a-service) businesses.”

Tekion is headquartered in Pleasanton, United States; its Asia-Pacific office is in Bengaluru and it has a regional centre in Chennai. Tekion in 2023 had a 97 per cent year-on-year run rate revenue growth and expanded its partnerships to more than 2,000 automotive retailers, multiple leading-brand OEMs, and over 250 ecosystem technology partners.

Tekion, which was founded in 2016, said it has an “industry-leading” Cloud platform and is rapidly gaining new customers. The firm said the recent addition of seasoned executives to its leadership team, including the chief financial officer, chief revenue officer, and chief technology officer, marks its “market momentum” and investments for growth.

ElasticRun eyes profit by October-end: CEO

SHIVANI SHINDE
Mumbai, 16 July

Going back to basics has helped many startups emerge from the funding winter with a stronger business. Pune-based ElasticRun is an example of such focus as it now eyes operational profitability by the end of October 2024.

Sandeep Deshmukh, co-founder and CEO, ElasticRun said, “We are close to achieving operational profitability. We see that happening by end of October 2024. This is being driven by our focus on regional brands.” The Softbank and Prosus Venture-backed ElasticRun runs distribution for FMCG products in rural areas. It has made several changes in its business over the last two years, which has also meant closing down or moving away from segments that were not running efficiently. The business-to-business e-commerce player has for instance focused on working with regional brands as they give better margins and also allows them to partner with these brands in marketing. “Regional brands give better margin than national brands. In some case it can go upward of 14 per cent,” said Deshmukh. The company's take rate has gone up by almost three times.
